

Sun, sand and...mulch?

Hi <<First Name>>

By now you have surely kicked all of the beach sand out of your jandals and are well and truly back into the swing of things. Here at Mainscape, we have been loving the hot temperatures and great conditions for landscaping and other outdoor projects.

Take a minute to view below and see what great specials we have to offer, and while you have been holidaying, we have been working on some useful tips and information to help you understand the importance of mulch.

The Magnificence of Mulch

Commonly used for controlling erosion and suppressing weeds, mulch is also a great option to use during hot and dry months.

Major benefits include:

- Up to 70% saving soil moisture, meaning less watering and reduced risk of plants drying out and dying.
- Plants will grow healthier if the temperature of the soil doesn't fluctuate - mulch acts as an excellent insulator.
- As mulch decays it forms hummus in the soil which feeds and provides nutrients to the plants, ensuring they're properly fed in those times when water is scarce.

We have a wide assortment of bulk mulch available, including mill bark and black bark - take a look at our selections here.
